Numbered Memo Series 09-11
September 2009

TO: First Responder and Ambulance Service Directors
EMS Service Medical Directors
Public Service Access Points
Emergency Government Directors
EMS Training Centers

FROM: Brian Litza, Section Chief
Wisconsin Emergency Medical Services Section

SUBJECT: First Responder Services and Individuals

Medical First Responder services providing 9-1-1 response in Wisconsin must:

- Be licensed as a First Responder service
- Operate under an approved operational plan
- Operate under approved protocols
- Obtain approval for advanced skills
- Operate with licensed/certified EMS personnel, credentialed with that service

Medical First Responders providing 9-1-1 response in Wisconsin must:

- Have completed an approved first responder course and subsequent refresher courses
- Hold a current certificate from the State of Wisconsin (expires June 30 of even numbered years)
- Maintain current CPR for healthcare providers certification
- Be credentialed with a licensed First Responder service
- Follow approved protocols.

Per Ch. 256, Wis. Stats., and Wisconsin Administrative Rule HFS 113, every group that operates as or advertises as providing medical first response must submit an operational plan and obtain a license as a medical first responder service. Additionally, all individuals operating as first responders with a 9-1-1 response service must be trained through a department (DHS) approved first responder training program and obtain and maintain a state certificate. The goal of the EMS Section is to have all First Responder services and providers in compliance with state statute and administrative rule by December 31, 2009.

There are currently many unlicensed First Responder services and many uncertified first responders operating in Wisconsin. Many of these services and individuals are providing medical first response without the benefit of approved or current training. Others have completed an approved curriculum and maintained that knowledge with regular refreshers but hold no State certification. All of these services and their members must come into compliance with the current law by the end of 2009.

First Responder Service Licensure

Attached is a list of licensed first responder services by county. By reviewing this document you will be able to identify if a specific service is licensed or not, whether or not they have an approved operational plan and what, if any, advanced skills they are approved to use.

If a first responder service is not on this list, they are not a licensed provider. These services should contact the Wisconsin EMS Section immediately. They will need to submit an application and operational plan and obtain licensure. If a first responder service is on this list but is using advanced skills that are not identified for that service, the skills are being used without an approved operational plan. These services should contact the Wisconsin EMS Section immediately and submit an advanced skills request.

Your assistance in reviewing the attached list of services and identifying unlicensed services in your area along with a contact name, address and phone number (to the EMS Section) will be greatly appreciated in our effort to ensure that all First Responder services are operating within the scope of the law.

Documents for obtaining First Responder service licensure and/or advanced skill approval can be found on our website at http://dhs.wisconsin.gov/ems/License_certification/FirstResponder/FR_index.htm.

Individual First Responder Certification

Not unlike any other type of EMS licensure, an individual must obtain their initial first responder certification within 24 months of successfully completing the first responder course. The EMS Section currently accepts initial first responder training that is older than 24 months if the individual can document regular refresher training. This will continue to be the practice through December 31, 2009. After that date, only initial training completed within 24 months of the application will be considered for initial licensure. This is essentially giving first responders a grace period in which to obtain current State of Wisconsin First Responder certification.

After December 31, 2009, the individual and the service will be subject to disciplinary action and possible penalties should they continue to provide undocumented medical first responder service.

First Responder personnel may apply for licensure by following the instructions on our E-Licensing link at http://dhs.wisconsin.gov/ems/License_certification/elicensing/index.htm.
