

Healing Comes From Relationships

built on nine trauma-informed practices

If you recognize the impact trauma can have on people's physical, mental, and behavioral health, take the next step. Empower those around you by learning how to build supportive, trauma-informed relationships that promote healing, recovery, and wellness in others.

Learn more about trauma-informed practices at Resilient.Wisconsin.gov.