

We are Wisconsin community health workers

Who we are

We are trusted members of your community who've faced similar challenges accessing and navigating health care and other social services for healthier living.

What we do

We work one-on-one with individuals in the community to connect them with the health care and social services they need and deserve.

Ready to find your bridge?

Talk to your health care provider, ask around in your community, or check with a local community center or organization. If there isn't a community health worker serving your community, help advocate for one!
