

NEWLY LICENSED SMALL (5-8 BED) CBRF IN A COMMERCIAL BUILDING

State of Wisconsin / Department of Health Services / Division of Quality Assurance
P-03669 (10/2025)

Community-Based Residential Facilities (CBRF) are licensed according to Wis. Admin. Code ch. DHS 83 and to the Wisconsin Commercial Building Code (WCBC) Wis. Admin. Code chs. SPS 361-366. The WCBC, through the Department of Safety and Professional Services (DSPS), adopted and modified the 2015 edition of the International Building Code (IBC) which took effect in 2018. This clarification remains in effect for the 2021 edition of the IBC.

Question: SPS § 362.0400(4) states that small (5-8 bed) CBRFs shall comply with the Wisconsin Uniform Dwelling Code (UDC) instead of all other requirements of the WCBC. What codes apply to a proposed new license, small CBRF, that will be located within a commercial building?

Answer: In accordance with IBC § 302.1 and § 508.1, each portion of a commercial building shall be individually identified as one of the use and occupancy classifications that are defined within the WCBC. Once all portions of a building are classified, then the remaining building elements and systems (size, construction type, separated occupancies, fire protection, egress, etc.) can be designed in full compliance with the WCBC. When a small (5-8 bed) CBRF is located within a commercial building, the interior of the small CBRF is allowed to be designed per the UDC. Overall commercial building compliance, however, necessitates that the small CBRF is classified as a WCBC occupancy group. Depending on the proposed CBRF license type per DHS § 83.04, a small CBRF in a commercial building would be minimally classified as one of the following WCBC occupancies: R-3, R-4, or I-2.
